<sup>1</sup> Beta is the measure of a fund's sensitivity to the Index. By definition, the beta of the Index is 1.00. Any fund with a higher beta is more volatile than the Index. Likewise, any portfolio with a lower beta will be less volatile than the index in the stated period. <sup>2</sup> Alpha is a statistical measurement that depicts the performance difference between a fund's return and an underlying performance benchmark, given a fund's level of volatility, measured by beta. The benchmark will always reflect an alpha of 0.00%. A positive alpha indicates a fund has performed better than its beta would predict in the stated period.

<sup>3</sup> Standard deviation is a measure of historical volatility that indicates the degree to which an investment's returns fluctuate around its average return. Generally, a higher standard deviation indicates a more risky investment.

FUND SUMMARY

The Guggenheim Enhanced Core Bond ETF* seeks total return, comprised of income and capital appreciation. The Fund will normally invest at least 80% of its net assets in fixed income securities. The Fund's investment strategy utilizes quantitative security selection, fundamental credit analysis and the Investment Adviser's views of particular sectors to construct a portfolio through a process that employs a rigorous risk management framework. The Investment Adviser utilizes a quantitative strategy which attempts to identify relative mispricing among the instruments of a given asset class and estimate future returns which may arise from the eventual correction of the relative mispricing.

The Fund primarily invests in U.S. dollar-denominated investment grade debt securities, including U.S. Treasury securities and corporate bonds, rated Baa3 or higher by Moody's Investors Service, Inc., also referred to as Moody's, or equivalently rated by Standard & Poor's Rating Group, commonly known as S&P, or Fitch Investor Services, referred to as Fitch, or, if unrated, determined by the Investment Adviser to be of comparable quality. The Fund may invest no more than 10% of its assets in high yield securities, commonly referred to as junk bonds, which are debt securities that are rated below investment grade by nationally recognized statistical rating organizations, or are unrated securities that the Investment Adviser believes are of comparable quality.

The Fund may invest, without limitation, in U.S. dollar-denominated debt securities of foreign issuers, including emerging market issuers. The Fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in sovereign and corporate debt securities denominated in foreign currencies. The Fund may invest up to 10% of its assets in mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") or in other asset-backed securities.

Performance data quoted represents past performance, which is no guarantee of future results, and current performance may be lower or higher than the figures shown. For the most recent month-end performance figures, please visit www.guggenheimfunds.com. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate with changes in market conditions and other factors so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost.

The gross expense ratio reflects the Fund's actual total annual operating expense ratio, gross of any fee waivers or expense reimbursements as of its most recent prospectus. While there is currently a contractual fee waiver in place through December 31, 2013, some expenses fall outside of this expense cap and therefore net operating expenses may be higher. Without this expense cap, actual returns would be lower.

After tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates during the periods shown and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown. Since Inception returns assume a purchase of the ETF at the initial share price for share price returns or the initial net asset value (NAV) per share for NAV returns. Returns for periods of less than one year are not annualized. Returns include reinvestment of distributions. The Barclays Capital U.S. Aggregate Bond Index is a broad-based benchmark that measures the investment grade, U.S. dollar-denominated, fixed-rate taxable bond market, including Treasuries, government-related and corporate securities, MBS (agency fixed-rate and hybrid ARM passthroughs), ABS, and CMBS. million. This index is unmanaged and it is not possible to invest directly in this index.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS Investors should consider the following risk factors and special considerations associated with investing in the Fund, which may cause you to lose money, including the entire principal amount that you invest. Credit/Default Risk: The risk that issuers or guarantors of debt instruments or the counterparty to a derivatives contract, repurchase agreement or loan of portfolio securities is unable or unwilling to make timely interest and/or principal payments or otherwise honor its obligations. Debt instruments are subject to varying degrees of credit risk, which may be reflected in credit ratings. Securities issued by the U.S. government have limited credit risk. However, securities issued by certain U.S. government agencies are not necessarily backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government. Credit rating downgrades and defaults (failure to make interest or principal payment) may potentially reduce the Fund's income and share price. Interest Rate Risk: As interest rates rise, the value of fixed-income securities held by the Fund are likely to decrease. Securities with longer durations tend to be more sensitive to interest rate changes, making them more volatile than securities with shorter durations. Income Risk: Income risk is the risk that falling interest rates will cause the Fund's income to decline. Mortgage- and Asset-Backed Securities Risks: MBS (residential and commercial) and asset-backed securities represent interests in "pools" of mortgages or other assets, including consumer loans or receivables held in trust. The principal on MBS or asset-backed securities may normally be prepaid at any time, which will reduce the yield and market value of these securities. Therefore, these securities are subject to "prepayment risk" and "extension risk." High Yield Securities Risk: High yield securities are subject to the increased risk of an issuer's inability to meet principal and interest payment obligations as well as may be subject to greater price volatility. Foreign Investment Risk: Investing in non-U.S. issuers may involve unique risks such as currency, political, and economic risk, as well as less market liquidity, generally greater market volatility and less complete financial information than for U.S. issuers. Emerging Markets Risk: Investment in securities of issuers based in developing or "emerging market" countries entails all of the risks of investing in securities of non-U.S. issuers, as previously described, but to a heightened degree. Financial Services

Sector Risk: Subject to extensive government regulation, relatively rapid change due to increasingly blurred distinctions between service segments, and can be significantly affected by availability and cost of capital funds, changes in interest rates, the rate of corporate and consumer debt defaults, and price competition. Portfolio Turnover Risk: The Fund may engage in active and frequent trading of its portfolio securities in connection with the rebalancing of the Index, and therefore the Fund's investments. Management Risk: The Fund is subject to management risk because it is an actively managed portfolio. In managing the Fund's portfolio securities, the Investment Adviser will apply investment techniques and risk analyses in making investment decisions for the Fund, but there can be no guarantee that these will produce the desired results. Risk of Deviation between Market Price and NAV: Unlike conventional ETFs, the Fund is not an index fund. The Fund is actively managed and does not seek to replicate the performance of a specified index. There can be no assurance as to whether and/or the extent to which the Shares will trade at premiums or discounts to NAV. In addition, the Fund is subject to additional risks and other considerations not mentioned above. Please read the prospectus for additional information. As with any investment, you should consider how your investment will be taxed. The tax information contained in the prospectus is provided as general information. Investors should consult their own tax professional about the tax consequences of an investment as Guggenheim Funds Distributors, Inc. does not offer tax advice.
